Please pray for our faith formation students who will be receiving new Sacraments this month! The last First Communion Holy Mass will be May 16 at St. Columbkil. Confirmation will be May 22 at St. Columbkil.

Congratulations to the children of our parish who received Jesus in the Holy Eucharist for the first time last weekend! First Communicants on May 8 at Holy Trinity were: Eli Buck, Maxwell Gadiant, Emily Lodermeier, and Graysen Thomforde. First Communicants on May 9 at St. Columbkil were: Joseph Buck, Megan Powers, and Jay Roschen.

Congratulations to those who received the Sacrament of Confirmation on May 9 at St. Mary: Owen Buxengard, Taylor Johnson, and Zachary Keller. Kasey Klouser also was recently confirmed. May God continue to bless you!

Baccalaureate Holy Mass at the Church of St. Mary will be on Sunday, May 23, at 8:45am. Please congratulate our graduating seniors: Logan Ferguson, Abby Majerus, and Sarah Mensink.

Mary Celebration: All students and families are invited to a Mary Celebration on Friday, May 21, from 12:15-1:45pm at Holy Trinity Church. There will be games, songs, stories, crafts, and snacks to learn more about our Blessed Mother. Middle and high school students are invited to come also and help out and join in the fun.

Cemetery Collection: There will be a second collection on the weekend of May 22-23 to support the upkeep of our parish cemeteries. Please consider a donation to keep the cemeteries looking beautiful!

Holy Hour for Women: Sunday, May 23, at 6:00pm at the Church of St. Michael, Pine Island. All women are invited!

St. Columbkil parishioners: The four beautiful statues at the front of our church will be undergoing restoration this year. We would gladly welcome any monetary contributions towards the restoration fund. If you have any questions, please contact Fr. Kasel or Bob and Cindy Eppen.

Car Wash Fundraiser: The Goodhue High School NHS will hold a car wash at the Soil & Water Conservation Office in Goodhue from 10:00am-2:00pm, Sunday, May 16. A free will donation will be collected. Proceeds will be given to the Scholarship Committee.

Archbishop Flynn Catechetical Institute—Applications Available for Class of St. Joseph! Mondays, 7-9 pm at Transfiguration, Oakdale and other satellite sites. Ever wonder what God has planned for your life? This fall, the Archbishop Flynn Catechetical Institute will offer the two-year Pillars Program in person at Transfiguration Catholic Church in Oakdale and at various CI Satellite Sites, where students will participate in the small group dynamic and gather together to watch the lectures via live stream. Taught by some of the best instructors in the Twin Cities, such as Bishop Andrew Cozzens, Jeff Cavins, Deacon Joe Michalak, Deacon Dan Gannon, Fr. John Klockeman, Dr. Todd Flanders, Christina Smith, Liz Kelly, and more, the CI: Pillars Program follows the four pillars of the Catechism of the Catholic Church and will make sense of all things Catholic, deepen your faith, and layout the roadmap to heaven. Applications are now being accepted for the Class of St. Joseph. For more information, CI: Satellite Sites locations, and an application, visit semssp/ci or call (651) 962-5072.

Words to Live By: "Out of compassion for us He descended from Heaven and although He ascended alone, we also ascend, because we are in Him by grace." St. Augustine

"As the prophet says, Ascending on high He led captivity captive; He gave gifts to men. The undoubted meaning of these words is this: that since the devil led the human race captive, our Lord, by wresting it from him, took it captive Himself, and as the prophet tells us, led that very captivity to the heights of Heaven. Both captivities do indeed bear the same name, but they differ one from the other. The devil's captivity means enslavement; Christ's, on the contrary, means restoration to freedom." St. Maximus

"Moses brought out of Egypt a timid nation, and in the space of forty years trained it to be full of valor for the task of conquering the promised land; Christ in forty days trains His Apostles to be bold and patient instead of cowards. They mourned and wept at the beginning of the season, but at the end they are full of courage for the good fight; their spirits mount high with their Lord, and when He is received out of their sight, and their own trial begins, they return to Jerusalem with great joy, and are continually in the temple, praising and blessing God." St. John Henry Newman

"We are of such value to God that He came to live among us... and to guide us home. He will go to any length to seek us, even to being lifted high upon the Cross to draw us back to Himself. We can only respond by loving God for His love." St. Catherine of Siena

Scripture Quote: "And He said to them, 'Go into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation. He who believes and is baptized will be saved; but he who does not believe will be condemned. And these signs will accompany those who believe: in My name they will cast out demons; they will speak in new tongues; they will pick up serpents, and if they drink any deadly thing, it will not hurt them; they will lay their hands on the sick, and they will recover.' So then the Lord Jesus, after He had spoken to them, was taken up into heaven, and sat down at the right hand of God." --Mark 16:15-19

Praised be Jesus Christ through Mary!

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ Jesus,

The month of May is dedicated to increased devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary. Let us ask Jesus and St. Joseph to teach us to practice great love for the Immaculate Heart of Mary!

This Sunday we celebrate the Mystery of the Ascension of our Lord into Heaven. This week I share with you a meditation on the Ascension of our Lord. I encourage you to reflect over this message a few times this week:

“Jesus awaits us in Heaven - Christ’s glorious exaltation culminates in the Ascension: According to the Gospel of St. Luke, the last gesture of our Lord on earth was to give a blessing (Luke 24:51). The Eleven had gone, as Jesus had told them to, from Galilee to the Mount of Olives near Jerusalem. On seeing the Risen Christ once more they fell down before Him as their Master and their God and worshipped Him (cf Matthew 28:17). Now they are much more conscious of what they had for some time believed in their hearts and confessed with their lips: that their Master was the Messiah (Matthew 16:18). They were delighted and full of joy at having their Lord and their God so near. After the forty days spent in His company, they could be witnesses to what they had seen and heard. The Holy Spirit would confirm in them the teachings of Jesus and would lead them to the complete Truth.

The Master spoke to them as only God could: Jesus came and said to them, ‘All authority in Heaven and on earth has been given to Me’ (Matthew 28:18). Jesus confirmed the Faith of those who worshipped Him and taught them that the power they were to receive was a sharing in His own Divine Power. The power to forgive sins, and to bring about a rebirth through Baptism is the power of Christ Himself, given now to His Church. The mission of the Church is to continue always the work of Christ, to teach men Divine Truths and make known the demands these Truths impose, to help men follow God’s way through the grace of the sacraments.

He said to them... ‘You shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be My witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judaea and Samaria and to the ends of the earth’. And when He said this, as they were looking on, He was lifted up, and a cloud took Him out of their sight (Acts 1:7-9). Thus does St. Luke describe for us the Ascension in the Acts of the Apostles. He withdrew from their sight little by little. The Apostles remained for a long while, looking up as Jesus ascended majestically until a cloud took Him out of their sight. It was the cloud that signifies the presence of God (cf Exodus 13:22; Luke 9:34 ff). In St. John Chrysostom’s words: It was a sign that Jesus had entered Heaven (St. John Chrysostom, Homilies on the Acts of the Apostles, 2).

Jesus’ life on earth finished not with His death on the Cross but with His Ascension into Heaven. It is the last of the mysteries of His life here on earth. It is a redemptive mystery which together with His Passion, Death and Resurrection make up the Paschal Mystery. It was fitting that those who saw Christ die amid insults, scoffing and mockery on the Cross should see Him now exalted. They see fulfilled now the words Jesus had one day spoken to them: I am ascending to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God (John 20:17). And again: Now I am no more in the world, but they are in the world, and I am coming to Thee (John 17:11).

We meditate on the Ascension of our Lord into Heaven in the second Glorious Mystery of the Rosary. In the words of the Founder of Opus Dei: Jesus has gone to the Father. – Two Angels in white approach us and say, Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking up to Heaven? (Acts 1:11) Peter and the others go back to Jerusalem – ‘cum gaudio magno’ – with great joy (Luke 24:52). It is fitting that the Sacred Humanity of Christ should receive the homage, praise and adoration of all the hierarchies of the Angels and of all the legions of the Blessed in Heaven (St. Jose Escriva, Holy Rosary, Second Glorious Mystery).

His Ascension strengthens and nourishes our desire for Heaven. The hope of Heaven should be fostered: In a sermon to commemorate today’s solemnity, St. Leo the Great said: Today we are not only made possessors of Paradise but with Christ we have ascended, mystically but also really, to the highest Heavens and have won through Christ a grace more wonderful than the one we had lost (St. Gregory the Great, Homily I on the Ascension).

The Ascension strengthens and nourishes our hope of attaining Heaven. It invites us always to lift up our hearts, as the preface of the Holy Mass says, and seek the things that are above. Our hope is very great because Christ Himself has gone to prepare a dwelling place for us (cf John 14:2).

Jesus is in Heaven with His glorified Body, with the signs of His Redemptive Sacrifice (Revelation 5:6) and with the marks of His Passion, marks which Thomas could see and touch, marks which bring about our salvation. The Sacred Humanity of Christ has its natural place in Heaven but He who gave His life for us awaits us there. Christ awaits us. We are ‘citizens of Heaven’ (Phil 3:20), and at the same time fully-fledged citizens of this earth, in the midst of difficulties, injustices and lack of understanding, but also in the midst of the joy and serenity that comes from knowing that we are children of God... If, in spite of everything, Jesus’ ascension into Heaven leaves a certain taste of sadness in our souls, let us go to His Mother, as the Apostles did. ‘They returned to Jerusalem... and they prayed with one mind... together with Mary, the Mother of Jesus (St. Jose Escriva, Christ is passing by, 126).

The hope of Heaven will fill our day with joy. We will imitate the Apostles who, in the words of St. Leo the Great, benefitted so greatly from the Ascension of our Lord that all that beforehand had caused them fear now caused them joy. From that moment on, their souls were fixed in contemplation on the Divinity seated at the right hand of the Father; the very vision of His Body was no obstacle to their believing with their minds illumined by Faith that Christ had not separated Himself from His Father when He descended, and had not separated Himself from His disciples when He ascended (St. Leo the Great, Sermon 74, 3).

The Ascension and the Christian’s Apostolic Mission: And while they were gazing into Heaven as He went, behold, two men stood by them in white robes, and said, ‘Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking into Heaven?’

This Jesus, who was taken from you into Heaven, will come in the same way as you saw Him go into Heaven’ (Acts 1:11). Like the Apostles, we remain partly perplexed and partly saddened at His departure. It is not easy, in fact, to get accustomed to the physical absence of Jesus. I am moved when I think that, in an excess of love, He has remained with us, even when He has gone away. He has gone to Heaven and, at the same time, He gives Himself to us as our nourishment in the Sacred Host. Still, we miss His human speech, His way of acting, of looking, of smiling, of doing good. We would like to go back and regard Him closely again, as He sits down at the edge of the well, tired from His journey (cf John 4:6); as He weeps for Lazarus (cf John 11:35); as He prays for a long time (cf Luke 6:12); as He feels pity for the crowd (cf Matt 15:32; Mark 8:2) It has always seemed logical to me that the most Holy Humanity of Christ should ascend to the glory of the Father. The Ascension has always made me very happy. But I think that the sadness that is particular to the day of the ascension is also a proof of the love we feel for Jesus Christ, our Lord. He is God made man, perfect man, with flesh like ours, with blood like ours in His veins. Yet He leaves us and goes up to Heaven. How can we help but miss His presence (St. Jose Escriva, Christ is passing by, 117)?

The angels told the apostles that it was now time for them to begin the task before them, that there was not a minute to be wasted. With the Ascension Christ’s earthly mission comes to a close, and ours, as His disciples, begins. It is good that, today in our prayer, we hear the words with which Jesus intercedes for us before His Father: I do not pray that Thou shouldst take them out of the world (John 17:15), out of our proper place in society, out of our job or family, but that thou shouldst keep them from the evil one. Jesus wishes each of us to remain in His place, sanctifying the world from within, improving it and placing it at the feet of God. Only thus will the world be a place where human dignity is valued and respected, a place where men live in peace, in true peace, the peace which is so closely linked to God.

Today’s feast reminds us that our concern for souls is a response to a command of love given to us by our Lord. As He goes up to Heaven, Jesus sends us out as His witnesses throughout the whole world. Our responsibility is great, because to be Christ’s witness implies first of all that we should try to behave according to His doctrine, that we should struggle to make our actions remind others of Jesus and His most lovable personality (St. Jose Escriva, Christ is passing by, 122).

Those we live and work with, those we come in contact with, should find us loyal, sincere, joyful and hardworking. We should behave as people who fulfill their duties honestly and live as children of God in the ups and downs of each day. The ordinary norms of courtesy (how we greet others, our cordiality and spirit of service), which for many are merely conventional and external, have to be in us the fruit of charity and an expression of real interest in someone else. Jesus departs, but He remains close to each of us. In a special way we find Him in the Tabernacle, perhaps in one not far from where we live or work. Let us have recourse to Him there, even though often we cannot go physically but only with our heart, and ask Him to help us in our apostolic endeavours. Let us tell Him that He can count on us to make known His teaching everywhere we go.

The Apostles returned to Jerusalem in the company of Mary. With her, they awaited the coming of the Holy Spirit. Let us too prepare for the coming of Pentecost staying close to our Lady.” (From: In Conversation with God by Francis Fernandez)
Through the intercession of Mary, Queen of Heaven, St. Joseph, and St. Columbkil, may God bless us and grant us the grace to desire Heaven each day! In Christ through Mary, Fr. Kasel
